

Brace Frames

The Construx Brace Frames are used for single sided concrete walls.

The brace frames transfer the concrete pressure from the wall to the anchoring's in the floor slab. There are 4 types of brace frames, depending on the height of the walls. Types A, B and C are modular and can be used individually or mounted on top of each other. Type S is the standard brace frame and is used the most frequent.

